

Todd Okolichany

Director of Planning and Urban Design
City of Asheville

Todd Okolichany serves as the Director of Planning and Urban Design for the City of Asheville where he is responsible for leading sustainable growth, promoting equitable development and shaping the built environment for inclusive prosperity and quality of life for the city's diverse community. Prior to moving to Asheville, he oversaw Fort Lauderdale's long-range planning program. Todd also previously worked for an internationally renowned architecture firm in New York City, where he received a Master of Science degree in planning from Pratt Institute. He is a Certified Planner and holds the LEED Accredited Professional in Neighborhood Development credential.